ABOUT WITSAND

Following the trickling dwellings that dot the eastern bank of the majestic Breede River where it flows into the Indian Ocean, the tranquil fishing hamlet of Witsand on the southern Cape coast wraps itself discreetly around the white sand dunes which it derives its name from.

Once a bustling little town with a port where steamboats unloaded goods destined for the markets of Cape Town, the small village is now known as one of the last wild, safe and unspoilt places on our beautiful coastline. From the turn-off on the N2, just outside Heidelberg, the road meanders through beautifully cultivated fields, sheep and ostrich farms. It is a place where sunrise and sunset colours the sky, land and water with hues of red and gold.

Steeped in history dating back as far as the era of the Portuguese seafarers – hence the name St Sebastian Bay – this historical gem draws visitors from far and wide to delight in its offerings:

- Barry Memorial Church Witsand's famous landmark built in 1849,
- The ruptured remains of the SS Kadie and SS Locust steamships still visible on the rocks at low tide,
- Moodie's Well,
- The well-preserved little "Kraaltjie" harbour, and many more.

A place where sunrises and sunsets are aflame with hues of red and gold

THE LIFESTYLE

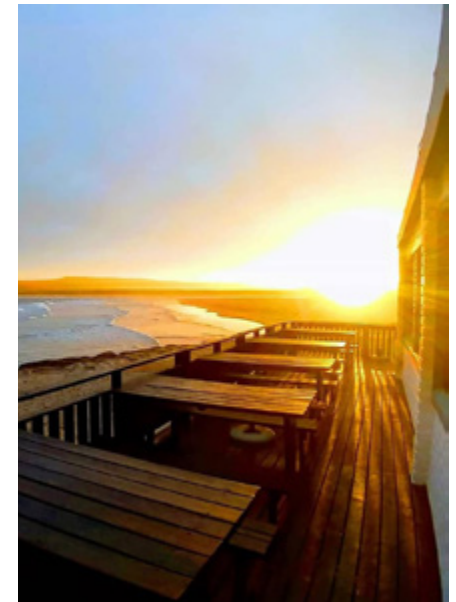

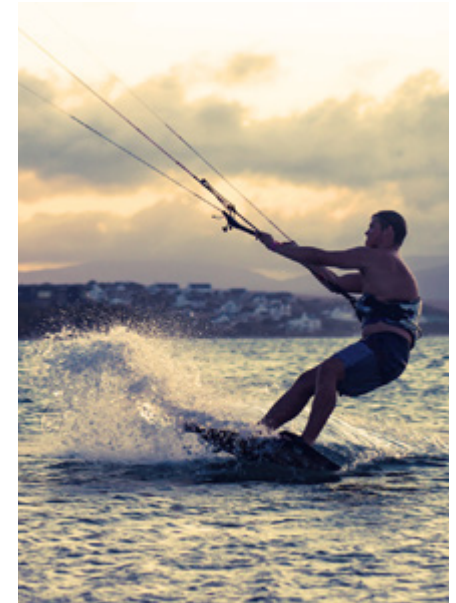

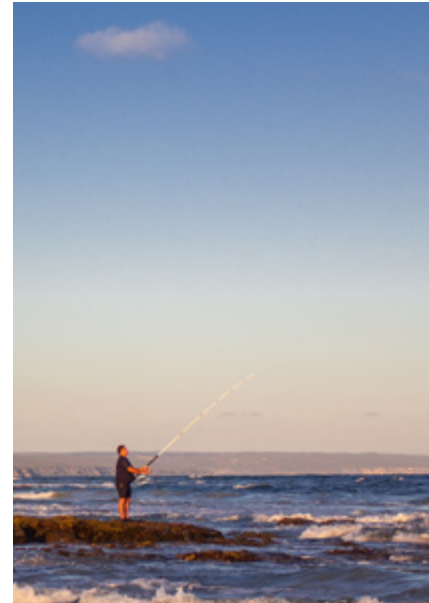

Whether calm and serene or in raging flood, the Breede River is the main attraction. Its tidal action that reaches 60 km upstream, supports an abundance of fish and bird species, creating one of the finest fishing estuaries in the country with Kabeljou of up to 50 kg. Spotted grunter, steenbras, white and red stumpnose and red roman are in abundance. Witsand is also excellent for kite surfing, rowing, canoeing, sailing and sunset cruising! Sundowners at the Bush Pub, which is only a short cruise up the river, with the stars appearing overhead, is an unforgettable experience.

THE TOWN

From the start of July up to mid-October, you can experience the breathtaking views of the bright yellow canola fields blooming.

Should you need to purchase any groceries, beach gear or your fish and tackle, The Sands Supermarket is your one-stop convenience shop. Here you can also access an ATM, fill up with fuel and even get your fishing license.

Feeling peckish? Go down to the Anchorage Beach Restaurant and Bar situated right on the beachfront. Here you can treat yourself to delightful meals. This friendly establishment serves anything from breakfast to pizza and the freshest seafood. If this restaurant was any closer to the sea, you would be sitting with your feet in the sand.

THE WILDLIFE

Witsand offers miles of unspoilt beachfront, a rich diversity of fauna and flora and prolific birdlife. Some 260 species, among which are a number of rare birds, inhabit the area. Almost without exception the nights are clear, creating a magical collage of heavenly bodies for the avid stargazer. Right on your doorstep is the De Hoop Nature Reserve with its 3 000 hectares of undisturbed fynbos. It is home to the endangered Cape mountain zebra and Cape vulture. In the immediate vicinity of Breedezicht Estate, small deer still roam around undisturbed in the conservation areas.

THE WHALES

Although not generally known, during the whale season from June to November, Witsand has more and better whale sightings than other Western Cape towns. It is renowned for having the largest concentration of the endangered southern right whale along the South African coast. Migrating from the icy waters of the Antarctic, they come to calve in the warmth and safety of St Sebastian Bay. On a good day at least 50 of these majestic giants can be seen from the shore, whilst as many as 164 have been counted from a helicopter.

Nestled between mountains, fields, the river and the sea,
Breedezicht is a nature lover's dream.
